OMNES conference on the social impact of the ecological transition in the airline industry

Dear readers,

I often talk to you about OMNES, Air France's inter-union think-tank.

We regularly organize conferences on topical issues.

We also initiated the creation of the Observatoire de l'Aviation Durable.

Our next conference, entitled the social impact of the ecological transition in the airline industry, will be held next Thursday, July 4.

You'll find the program and registration link below.

The conference will be recorded and a video summary will be published afterwards.

We look forward to seeing you there.

François
